

Harry's Book Review- Y8

The book that I read is called We Are All Made Of Molecules by Susin Nielsen. The book was published in 2015 by Andersen Press.

The book has a theme of mystery as when I started it for the first time, it had a really big feeling of suspense as I read it. In my mind, it kept saying "Continue reading! Please don't stop!".

The story was from 2 character's points of view, Stewart and Ashley. I'm not going to reveal too much, but Stewart's mother dies, and his father starts dating a woman he works with, and they both move in with her.

The plot is about getting used to a new city, a new school, a new family and a bunch of changes all at the same time. What I liked about the story is how the perspective changes in between the two main characters and how Stewart ends up having a crush on someone.

However, the dislike I had for the story is the term they decided to use for the gay people in the story.

Out of 5, I give it a 4.

To choose an age range for the story, I recommend 11-20.
