

Philosophy	A way of checking if knowledge works.
Analyse	Look at the meaning of something, and see if or how it works.
Evaluate	Compare a set of options, and decide how important, valuable or successful they are.
Mythology	A collection of stories belonging to a culture.
Epistemology	The study of how we know things we know.
Ethics	The study of right and wrong.
Dialogue	A discussion where two people work together to answer a question or solve a problem.
Argument	A set of statements which build to a final answer, known as a conclusion.
Maieutiké	The Greek word for “Midwife”.
Metaphysics	A type of Philosophy which asks questions about what the world or universe really is like.
Justice	The idea that things should be just, or fair in society.
Thought experiment	A fictional creation that philosophers use to explore the consequences of an idea without actually doing it to see if there are possible benefits or dangers.
Logic	The study of truths based completely on the meanings of the terms they contain.
Premise	A statement that something is/isn't true.
Conclusion	A final position after reflecting on evidence.
Analysis	Looking at possible responses to see which could be correct.
Evaluation	Checking through correct responses to see which is the best fit.