"Achievement is outstanding because every student matters" Ofsted 2013

Dear Parents and Carers,

As I write, excitement is building for the Norwich Science Festival Satellite which we are hosting here tomorrow - I hope many of you are able to come. The ticketed events sold out a while ago, but there is plenty to do on site which you can just arrive on the day and participate in - it would be lovely to see you. We also have a cafe serving hot baps and soup for £1:50, so if you'd like to pop in for a coffee and a snack and soak up the science vibes, please feel free! We will share the photos with you in the next edition.

Today we are being re-assessed for our Well-Being Award - it has been great this morning to chat to the assessor about what we try to do on a daily, weekly and annual basis to support our staff and students. I feel very proud of our enrichment clubs and pastoral/safeguarding teams - it's great to share it with an outsider. I will let you know the verdict next time too!

Next week, we will be sharing good practice with a local school on Live Marking - something we have tried to introduce to give children rapid feedback and help to manage staff workload at the same time. Assessment is crucial to finding out how children are getting on - and how to support them in their next steps, so we will keep trying to find more and more effective ways of keeping families up to date. We are also hosting the regional Principals' Forum on Thursday so many other school leaders will be coming to visit us.

Finally, I am planning (after many years of nagging from pupils and staff) to explore having therapy dogs in school. Obviously, I need to be mindful of your views on this - I know most other schools have therapy dogs and the children really enjoy their 'school pets'. I am also aware that some folks have allergies to dogs, so I am interested in how we would manage this. Please drop me an email if you'd like to feed back - my email address is n.palmer@ormistonvictoryacademy.co.uk

Have an amazing weekend - thank you for your support of our school.
